

PROFILE

Professional summary:

Am a final-year student with no work experience. I have completed several projects during my years of studying. Through these projects, I have developed leadership, communication, and time management skills, which will make me a better team player in a work environment.

About Me:

I would say that people would describe me as a good communicator because I'm always able to articulate people's needs, it may be partner or my teammates. I'm able to quickly pick up on subtle hints and nonverbal clues, and I believe this has helped contribute to my success. I'm highly motivated and am extremely passionate about developing software that solves daily or business problems.
